

We Can't Say "Mission Accomplished" Until We Buy Our Quota Of War Bonds

YAKE REQUESTS DISMISSAL OF GRAB'S APPEAL
The move of Eugene G. Grab, Harrisburg street, to have the Adams county court review all of the facts of the case in which he was fined $250 in court in February on a charge of carrying an automatic pistol without a license was listed for argument in court this morning when District Attorney J. Francis Yake announced the Commonwealth had filed an answer to Grab's petition.

In his reply, Yake pointed out that Grab was not tried in court before being fined but came before the judge on a plea of "nolo contendere." Yake also denied Grab's contention that the pistol he carried was "not a firearm" because it was not loaded. The district attorney holds that it was a firearm under the provisions of the Uniform Firearms Act.

Asks Dismissal
Asking dismissal of Grab's petition, Mr. Yake avers that there is no information at hand now that was not known or "discoverable" at the time Mr. Grab came before the court for sentence.

Richard A. Brown, Esq., was named master in the divorce action by Grace M. Rose against Robert G. Rose. Another master was appointed Saturday in the case of Maybelle (Thomas) Arnold vs. Marvin Millard Arnold. William L. Meals, Esq., was named in that case.

With all but about a week of his sentence already served, Paul B. Burgoon, Arendtsville, appeared in court on a plea of guilty on a charge of drunken driving brought by state police. His 30-day sentence was dated from April 28, the day of his arrest. He also must pay a $25 fine and the costs.

The court placed William Cooley, Arendtsville, on parole for two years on a forgery charge after serving a part of his jail sentence. After a hearing the court ordered Francis Bosley, colored, Gettysburg, to pay $7 weekly for the support of his family. He must also pay the costs of his case.

Other Business
Argument was heard in the claim of Howard S. Study versus the Littlestown Canning company. Scheduled argument of the assumpt action of R. M. Walton vs. E. Clair Matthias, was postponed.

In response to a petition filed previously the court ordered the order against Edwin F. Myers, New Oxford R. D., for the support of his four children discontinued when it developed that all are now either employed or serving in the armed forces.

Twelve accounts in estates were confirmed and other routine matters handled. Judge W. C. Sheely was on the bench with Associate Judges A. Dale Knouse and J. Price Oyler.

Court convened at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

THREE COUNTY MEN LIBERATED FROM GERMANS

Three Adams county soldiers who had been prisoners of the Germans, have been liberated according to word received by relatives.

Pfc. Robert Jones, 24, in a letter received by his wife, the former Miss Betty Biesecker, who resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blair Biesecker, Orrtanna, this morning, reveals he is now in Allied hands. The letter was written May 8.

Excerpts from his letter follow: "I am safe once more in American hands, having been liberated May 4 after walking for a week to reach American lines, and I sure was a happy man that day. It is good to eat G. I. chow again after eating their grass soup, hot water, a few potatoes and cabbage. The Red Cross parcels were life-savers for us. From now on when the Red Cross wants donations, we give it. I am in good health or, at least I think so, excepting for my feet and legs which bother me quite a bit. Expect to be home soon. Hope when I get back I never have to leave the good old U. S. A."

Pfc. Jones had been reported as missing since November 19, 1944, and was reported as a German prisoner on March 13. He was inducted December, 1942. Prior to his induction he was employed by the Hershey Chocolate company. He formerly resided in Scranton.

Pfc. Logan was first reported as missing in action on December 17, 1944, and on February 17 a card was received by his father, Otis A. Logan, Gettysburg R. 4, which was written from a German prison camp. Logan entered the service December 1, 1942, and went overseas last September as a mortar gun operator.

LAUD SOLDIER FOR HEROISM

(Special To The Times)
With the 7th Infantry Division on Okinawa, (By Mail)—As stirring an account of heroism by a medic as can be found in the Pacific is the one concerning Sgt. James S. Ward, 25, of Gettysburg, Pa.

Sergeant Ward recently volunteered to go through heavy Jap fire to bring back the wounded who had fallen in the battle for Red Hill, one of the roughest battlefields on Okinawa.

Ward thinks nothing of what he is doing for his buddies. "I don't think there ever was a hotter spot in the Pacific than the Red Hill struggle," he said in being prodded for an account of the rescue. "I was plenty scared, but I will volunteer again in emergencies such as that fight. They're heroes out there whether they fall wounded or push on unscathed."

The son of Frederick R. Ward, 29 East Middle street, in Gettysburg, the medic is one of the finest surgical technicians in his battalion.

Before entering the service he attended DePauw of Indiana. Okinawa is his fourth campaign.

Total Gold Reserve Of Hungary In Yank Hands

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Paris, May 21 (AP)—The state treasure of Hungary, including the total gold reserve behind all Hungarian currency in circulation, was uncovered recently by the U. S. 80th Infantry division on a rocky, pine-covered crag high in the Austrian Alps.

The treasure trove, hidden at the ancient mountain village of Spital Am Pyhrn, was unearthed by Hungarian-born M. Sgt. William J. DeHuszar of Chicago, Ill.

It included 4,000,000,000 pengos ($130,000,000 at the present rate of exchange) 29,000 kilograms of gold bullion worth $30,000,000, complete sets of Hungarian bank note plates for printing all Hungarian currency, plus other wealth representing most of the capital interest and individual deposits of Hungary brought from Budapest before the Russians captured that city.

Also in the mountain top chapel cellar were more than 1,000,000 Reichsmarks, $159,000 in American

COUNTY SELLS ONE - THIRD OF E BOND QUOTA

Adams county has sold 30 per cent of its quota of $700,000 in E bonds up to noon today, War Finance Committee headquarters announced.

Official figures released shortly before noon reveal a total of $212,388.25 worth of E bonds sold thus far. This leaves a balance of $487,611.75 still to be sold before the official closing of the "Mighty Seventh" war loan campaign.

Adams county is running almost 3 per cent ahead of the state total of sales.

State Total
Philadelphia, May 21 (AP)—Sale of $80,400,000 in E bonds in the Seventh War Loan drive was reported today by G. Ruhland Rebmann, Jr., chairman of the Pennsylvania War Finance committee. The figure through last Friday represents 27.9 per cent of the state's $288,000,000 E bond quota. Total sales to individuals reached $124,300,000 or 24.6 per cent of the $506,000,000 quota.

Heavy Army Payments

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Release of men from the army under the point system probably won't cause any reduction in total payments to soldiers during 1945, the treasury said today.

The reason: "The last payday is the biggest." Each man gets a $300 mustering out payment in addition to his regular pay.

Ted R. Gamble, War Finance director, said the discharge payments for the 1,300,000 men the army plans to release within a year "will take $390,000,000 out of the funds being raised in the 7th War Loan."

He made this statement as the bond drive began its second week. There are six weeks to go—through June 30.

Appeal To Soldiers
The latest sales figure is $163,000,000 received from individuals of which $115,400,000 was for the popular series E bonds. The quota for individuals is $7,000,000,000, of which $4,000,000,000 must be in E bonds. Most of the sales to date are in payroll deductions, which have been counting toward the drive's quotas since April 9.

Gamble said the $4,000,000,000 E bond quota is just about enough to cover the direct personnel expenses—pay, maintenance and subsistence—of the armed forces for one year.

Meantime War Secretary Stimson asked all military personnel to increase bond purchases during the 7th War Loan as a means of providing for their own future as well as to establish an army record that will "serve as a challenge to all public agencies and private organizations."

Marines Reach Crest Of Last Ridge Before Okinawa City Of Shuri

By JAMES LINDSLEY

Guam, May 21 (AP)—First Marine Division troops have driven to the crest of the last ridge before the Okinawa fortress city of Shuri in a tank-led drive through 800 yards of ferociously defended ravines and draws.

Elaborate Japanese hillside defenses were cleared by flame-throwing tanks and weary riflemen as they climbed the steep inclines until the tanks could go no farther and the battle turned into a hand to hand, cave-by-cave struggle.

Shuri, lying below the hilltop position of the Marines, was a pile of rubble from the incessant bombardment and bombing to which it has been subjected.

Heavy Mortar Fire

Lt. James Paulos, commander of a company which seized one ridge overlooking the ancient capital of Ryukyuan monarchs, told Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland his men had been subjected to heavy mortar fire all the way up the ridge.

Meantime, the 77th Infantry Division advanced doggedly to within 900 yards of Shuri on the northeast, throwing back three counterattacks, and elements of the 96th Infantry Division moved within 1,600 yards of the walled, moated city on the east.

The Sixth Marine Division sent elements eastward toward Shuri from its positions in suburbs of Naha, present capital of Okinawa.

Despite continued fierce Japanese resistance, Major Gen. John R. Hodge said there "was some indication that the Japanese are disintegrating as an overall fighting unit."

Fire Fewer Shells

Hodge told newsmen the enemy was firing 1,000 fewer artillery and mortar shells a night than formerly.

Nevertheless, an estimated 30,000 Japanese survivors of Okinawa's original garrison of 80,000 or more troops have yielded, yard by yard, only in death.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported 48,103 Japanese had been killed on Okinawa through Thursday. He gave no prisoner figures.

U. S. casualties were announced as 30,526 army, navy and marine, including pre-invasion fleet carrier attacks on the Ryukyus and Japan. Yank fighters were killing Japanese at the rate of 11 to one American lost in ground fighting. Nimitz's figures were 4,332 soldiers and marines killed and missing; 18,258 wounded. Added to these were 3,978 killed and missing naval personnel and 3,958 wounded.

Chinese Take Hochih City

Chungking, May 21 (AP)—Chinese troops in a sudden offensive in Kwangsi province have recaptured Hochih, important Japanese bastion on the Kwangsi-Kweichow railroad, 95 miles west of the rail junction city of Liuchow, the Chinese high command announced today.

On the East China coast, Chinese troops hammering eastward from the captured city of Poochow—possible American invasion port—have occupied Mamoi, eight miles distant, and other Chinese reached the vicinity of Lienkong, 20 miles northwest of Poochow, the high command said. The coastal successes were scored in yesterday's fighting.

Chinese forces on the east coast also seized another port in the Poochow area, and rumors persisted that enemy troops were evacuating numerous China coast positions which they feared would be turned into death traps in the event of an American invasion.

NEW REPORTER JOINS TIMES

G. Kent Stoddard, 25, former member of The Associated Press reporter staff in Philadelphia, joined the editorial staff of The Gettysburg Times this morning. He succeeds James L. Hafer who had been with The Times since last August.

The new reporter is a graduate of Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., and during his Army service acted as an interpreter and combat reporter for the North African edition of the service newspaper "Stars and Stripes."

Born in Wilkes-Barre, Stoddard attended the University of California, Harvard university and the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia. He graduated from Forke Union Military Academy, Fork Union, Va. He is a son of Captain and Mrs. George K. Stoddard U. S. Navy (retired). Lone Navy Plane Sinks Jap Convoy Of 5 Ships

By FRED HAMPSON

Manila, May 21 (AP)—In one of the war's outstanding aerial feats, a single Philippines-based Navy patrol plane destroyed an entire Japanese convoy of five ships, totaling 17,000 tons off Formosa Saturday, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

The largest ship, more than 5,500 tons, was a troop carrier, judging from its numerous life rafts.

A total of 369,818 Japanese have been killed and captured in the seven months' Philippines campaign, 14,408 of them in the last fortnight, MacArthur announced.

Japanese forces driven north of Davao into a succession of defense lines on Mindanao island appeared to be weakening.

A U. S. 24th Division column which speared up the coast, throwing a flank threat at stoutly defended Sasa airfield, did not meet resistance until the end of a full day's advance. At nightfall, it overcame strong Nipponese positions 3,000 yards northwest of Ipil village.

Her husband, 1st Lt. Maffett, in a letter dated May 5, wrote as follows: "Those ten thousand Jerries came right through my platoon area. One evening five soldiers came up to the opposite bank waving a white flag. They came on over and we could hardly believe it when they said they wanted to surrender 10,000 troops. A couple of days later their convoy arrived. I had come up with a guard detail to help straighten out their motor column. One Jerry officer came up to surrender his Luger pistol to me."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, May 21 (AP)—News item: Mort Cooper is to be represented by a lawyer in tomorrow's conference about his salary dispute with the Cardinals. That may be okay in this case, but think of what could happen if ball players made it a habit. Like this imaginary scene at home plate:

Umpire: "Steer-like three, yer out."

Batter: "Why, yuh blind baboon, that was a foot wide."

Batter's lawyer (appearing from nowhere): "Let me handle this. Mr. Umpire, what evidence have you that my client is out? Can you prove that ball was over the plate? Can you produce a college degree or other qualified evidence that you can count to three? And where's the corpus delicti?"

Ump (bewildered): "One more word from you..."

Lawyer: "Objection. My client hasn't said anything; you can't intimidate a witness."

Catcher: "He's out; let's get on with the game."

Catcher's lawyer and pitcher's lawyer (appearing simultaneously from a pink cloud above the horizon): "Don't say anything unless you consult us first. Mr. Umpire, this witness never has been sworn in. His testimony is incompetent, irrelevant and incomprehensible."

Batter: "Why you..." Ump: "Yer esouta the game."

At this point the managers, each accompanied by an attorney, appear from the dugouts.

Home team's lawyer: "Mr. Umpire, in the case of Durocher vs. Mager-Kurth, fifth volume Brooklyn, 1941..."

Visiting team's lawyer: "The precedent established in the matter of Dykes vs. Passarella..."

Batter: "I'm just as competent as any left-handed pitcher in the league."

Batter's lawyer: "I'll appeal this to the Supreme court."

Pitcher: "It was a slow curve."

Pitcher's lawyer: "I demand a dismissal on the ground that it hasn't been proved my client missed the plate."

Umpire: "Get someone up here to bat."

Trio of lawyers representing the two league presidents and the baseball commissioner: "Game called, darkness, high wind or something."

"For more than a century this nation maintained the high principle that government owes its citizens nothing and the citizen owes the government everything. That principle made us independent, wealthy and great."

"We have departed from that principle. Today everybody runs to the government for help. Everybody demands money for roads, for hospitals, for slum clearance, for education and even for aid to sick industries."

BROWNS BUMP YANKS TWICE; SOX HOLD LEAD

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
If the St. Louis Browns retain the American league championship, they may have their ancient nemesis—the New York Yankees—to thank.

In capturing both ends of a double header from the Bronx Bombers yesterday, 10-1 and 5-2, the Browns jumped right into the thick of the flag fight, tied with Detroit for second place, only a game behind the league-leading Chicago White Sox.

The twin triumph was the eighth and ninth in succession over the Yankees in a carryover streak from last season. Their victory on the final day last October 1 gave the Browns their first American league pennant.

Nelson Potter and Bob Munierf were the Yankees' spotters yesterday. Each won his third game. Potter yielding only four hits and Munierf spacing nine hits effectively in the nightcap.

Seven in First

St. Louis won the opener in the first inning, scoring seven runs against Atley Donald. A two-run homer by opposing Pitcher Walter Dubiel prevented Munierf from hurling a shutout. Pete Gray of the Browns was the hitting star of the day with four safeties, three in the opener.

The White Sox protected their first-place berth by defeating Boston twice, 4-2 and 8-2, to drop the Red Sox into the cellar.

Pitching continued to be the White Sox forte as Thornton Lee and Orval Grove went the route for Chicago's 15th and 16th complete game in 22 contests.

The largest crowd of the major league season, 51,340, of which 46,575 paid, saw the National league-leading New York Giants divide a twin-bill with the Pittsburgh Pirates at the Polo grounds. The Giants won the opener, 5-1, as Bill Volselle gained his eighth straight triumph without a defeat. Preacher Roe handed the New Yorkers their first shutout of the season, 4-0, in the nightcap on four hits.

The Chicago Cubs treed the Brooklyn Dodgers twice, 4-2 and 4-1, before 33,708 paid customers, to move into fourth place in the National league. Paul Derringer won his fifth game in the opener and Hank Wyse his fourth triumph in the nightcap.

Senators Split

After Stubby Overmire, Detroit's lefty, had beaten Washington in the opener, 4-1, for his initial victory of the season, Marino Pieretti pitched the Senators to a 1-0 triumph over Al Benton. The rookie righthander yielding only three hits for Benton's first loss against five victories. Outfielder George Binks' double in the ninth secured Joe Kuhel with the winning run.

Bucky Walters batted rather than pitched his way to his first victory of the year as Cincinnati split with Boston, the Reds winning the opener, 10-8, and dropping the second, 9-4. Walters hit two homers to account for the winning markers in the first game.

Conker Triplett and Glenn Crawford gained revenge on their old teammates collaborating on a ninth-inning score to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 7-6 victory over the St. Louis Cards, after the Redbirds had won the opener 6-2. Whitey Kurowski homered in each game, while Vince DiMaggio hit one with the bases loaded in the second game.

Cleveland and the Philadelphia Athletics split. The A's won the opener, 6-2, on a four-run outburst in the 10th inning and the Indians copped the nightcap, 4-2. Charlie Gassaway gained his first American league triumph in the opener.

Well, once more I shout: "Hooray! It's a girl!"
Seven pounds and more, they say: "It's a girl!"
Once again I want to tell: "Babe and mother doing well!"
To the whole wide world I'd yell: "It's a girl!"

Today's Talk

GETTING ALONG WITH FOLKS
If the San Francisco Conference can end with but one great objective attained, that of individual nations getting along peaceably with one another, it will have been a magnificent success. All wars come about because people, that is the governing nations, fail to get along with one another.

With so many nationalities, with such varied backgrounds, it is natural that the ideals and practices of each nation should be different—some vastly different, but that should not deprive any nation of the peace and happiness that it chooses to make its own.

The American or Britisher would not like to exchange his form of government for that of Russia, but that should not make it impossible for both to get along happily with Russia. In fact, if we are to have world peace, and that to last, we have to make up our minds that we will get along with every nation, no matter what its ideologies or form of government! After all, we are groups of human beings, inhabiting a very wonderful earth, and it was never meant that we should fight one another, or even that we should seriously quarrel.

As a single human being, I have always managed to get along with people whom I even didn't much like! I am frank to say that I don't like everyone, but hate no one. Getting along with folks is a matter of give and take, of being tolerant, just and magnanimous. We can all afford to do this. Human feelings are about the same all over this earth, no matter what the color, race, or religion of the individual.

Everything depends upon background, circumstances of birth, and environment. To the grace of God we owe what we are. We of this Western World love democracy and our free way of life, our privilege to think as we please; and we love our free expression and the initiative that it affords us. But it is easy to understand that there are nations that look upon us with wonder and puzzlement, simply because they have no idea of these great things that have made us so happy and so advanced.

We are no better than other people in the far corners of the earth, but we are better off—because we have learned how great an advantage it is to have unity of purpose, and to be free in our choices, or thoughts, and actions. The United States and the British Commonwealth of Nations get along happily because each unit gets along with each other.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Off Days"

DECOY IS USED IN HOAX PLOT ON EISENHOWER

By GEORGE TUCKER

Paris, May 21 (AP)—A Chicago lieutenant colonel was used as a double for Gen. Eisenhower last December after the Germans voiced threats against the supreme commander's life, it was disclosed today.

Supreme headquarters said, however, that the plot was a hoax—a story the Germans spread to heighten their armies' morale.

The double, Lt. Col. Baldwin B. Smith of 1127 Oak Lane Ave., Chicago, was placed in Eisenhower's four-star automobile on journeys between St. Germain and Versailles.

Smith volunteered for the role of decoy when the Army clamped an iron-tight cordon on the Paris area and set up the most elaborate machinery of the war to prevent possible destruction of Supreme Allied headquarters and assassination of the commanding general.

The similarity in appearances of Eisenhower and Smith is so striking that they frequently are mistaken for each other.

"Exactly Alike"
"When Smith sat in the general's car, you couldn't tell the difference," commented Lt. Albert Buonnano of Cranston, R. I., "their smiles are identical and from the rear they look exactly alike."

Lt. Col. Otto Skorzeny, aide to Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler and reported to be leader of the picked assassins directed to kill Eisenhower, was captured by the U.S. Seventh Army last Thursday. Censors then permitted release of the plot story, one of the top military secrets of the European theater.

The story went that Skorzeny organized a party of highly trained saboteurs to infiltrate Allied lines in the early stages of Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's breakthrough and they were told that the kidnaper of Mussolini would lead them in the assassination of Eisenhower and other high ranking Allied officers.

Refrigerators For Public Next Year

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Refrigerators are on the way back but it may be early next year before they reach the public.

The war production board will permit the manufacture of 530,000 new, popular-priced gas and electric machines this year, but the early output will go into stockpiles for hospitals, blood banks and essential uses.

After a three-year shutdown, the WPB said that production of refrigerators may start July 1 in the first step toward reconversion of an industry which hit an annual peak of $280,000,000 in factory sales in 1941.

Meanwhile a nation-wide survey by the census bureau for WPB's office of civilian requirements disclosed that the public wants to buy 5,852,000 mechanical refrigerators and 4,501,000 vacuum cleaners 3-451,000 sewing machines, 5,085,000 radios, 5,195,000 electric iron and $5-835,000 washing machines.

Steel Firm Faces Million Dollar Suit

Pittsburgh, May 21 (AP)—The National Roll and Foundry Co., at Avonmore, Westmoreland county, today faced a suit for almost a million dollars.

The OPA asks $915,185.15 treble damages for alleged overcharges in prices of steel castings.

Filed in federal court Saturday, the complaint charges the firm boosted prices on tank parts by mis-naming items and requiring extra payment for ordinary services.

Meadville, Pa., May 21 (AP)—Twelve-year-old Robert Shaffer Foster, attempting to stowaway on a big circus truck, slipped and fell to his death under the wheels of the vehicle Saturday, Deputy Coroner Samuel Cottlieb reported.

"But we knew at the time this was only a story and never at any time did Skorzeny or any of his people plan to carry out such an operation."

TENSE ISSUE FACES BIG 3 IN YUGOSLAVIA

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(AP Foreign News Analyst)
The unity of the Big Three is likely to get a sharp and revealing test in the explosive situation created by Yugoslavia's territorial claims against Italy and Austria—and the Anglo-American order to their diplomatic representatives and nationals in Yugoslavia to prepare for possible evacuation indicated that showdown is near.

This crisis revolves about dynamic Marshal Tito, Yugoslavia's Red politico-military chief, and the position in a nutshell is this: Tito is claiming Italian territory around Trieste and Gorizia, and east of the Iszara river. He also claims Austrian territory in the Aillach-Klagenfurt zone. His troops occupied these areas.

British Field Marshal Alexander, as supreme Allied Commander in the Mediterranean theatre, asked Tito to withdraw his soldiers from the disputed territory and let his claims be settled at the peace conference. Tito, while expressing willingness to have his claims thus adjudicated, replied that his military occupation wouldn't "prejudice the decisions of the peace conference."

Tense Situation
This brought a pungent message at the week-end from Alexander to the Allied troops in his command. He declared that it is "Marshal Tito's apparent intention to establish his claims by force of arms and military occupation. Action of this kind would be too reminiscent of Hitler, Mussolini and Japan. It is to prevent such actions that we have been fighting this war." He said the American and British governments had taken the matter up direct with Tito and that Moscow has been kept fully informed.

Alexander's statement was issued Saturday and yesterday the United States and Britain ordered their diplomatic corps and citizens in Yugoslavia to be prepared for evacuation. Meanwhile Tito's commanders moved their main headquarters out of Trieste (though there was no relaxation of Yugoslav military control to be seen in the city) and it was reported without confirmation that Tito had agreed to withdraw from Austrian territory.

Well, that's the way things look at this writing—a tense and dangerous situation. Small wonder that the British press is urging an early meeting of President Truman, Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill to iron out this and other pressing imbroglios.

Marshal Tito long has stood high with Moscow. Indeed, his leadership in Yugoslavia has been so efficient and strong that Britain and America also have given him moral and material support in this fight against the Axis forces. There never has been any question but that he was orienting his program with his eyes on Russia.

The big question now, of course,

IN CHARGE OF ROCKET TESTS

Dover, Del., May 21 (AP)—The army air field here Saturday disclosed for the first time that it had been experimenting with airborne rockets.

A public relations spokesman said the weapon played a major role in the "devastation of Germany." He said the "rocket's effectiveness was considered comparable to that of five-inch artillery shells. Their use will be stepped up in the war with Japan, he said.

Armored Targets Used

A 3.5-inch airborne rocket and a 5-inch velocity unit were among the types tested with every available kind of launching ramp, the spokesman said.

One launcher, he added, fired rockets which simulate the speed of an airplane in flight. Huge targets of tank-type armor have presented accurate evidence of the rocket's piercing and destructive power, he said.

Testing Headquarters

Colonel Donald B. Diehl, son of Mrs. Robert Diehl, East High street, Gettysburg, Pa., is commanding officer of the project, often identified as the Rocket Development and Testing Service of the Air Technical Service Command. Lieutenant Colonel Lawrence A. Gerlach, of White-stone, N. Y., acts as technical executive officer, and Lieutenant Colonel H. R. Turner, of Washington, is head of the ordnance section.

The spokesman said the Dover base was headquarters for rocket testing.

is what attitude Moscow will take towards Tito's stand regarding the Italian and Austrian territory. Logic frequently doesn't work in situations like this where passions run high, but the logical outcome would be for Tito to withdraw his troops, since this wouldn't prejudice his claims at the peace table. Therefore one would expect the Soviet government to agree with its Anglo-American Allies.

May Quit Monarchy

In considering the implications of this dispute, it's important to note that Yugoslavia falls within Russia's new sphere of influence in the Balkan peninsula. This also is Britain's pre-war zone of influence—which complicates the situation.

Yugoslavia is swinging hard towards the "left" and may abolish her monarchy. In any event she bids fair to become another of the nations which, like Poland, will become part of the security barrier which Russia is creating in eastern Europe and the Balkans.

College Grad Gives Views Of Sister Kenny Method Of Treating Paralysis Patients

The controversy about Sister Kenny, Australian nurse, and her method of treating infantile paralysis, has brought forth many expressions from members of the medical profession.

Dr. Harold S. Diehl, graduate of Gettysburg college, and dean of the medical school at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, is the subject of a recent article by James S. Pöbler, staff writer for the Chicago Daily News. Mr. Pöbler's article follows:

Minneapolis—The Think Works her is noble collection of buildings beside the burbling Mississippi. It also is known as the University of Minnesota. At the moment of the reporter's arrival there was no little agitation around the medical center. It seems that a bill for a new building—the $2,000,000 Mayo Memorial—had just got stuck somewhere in the Minnesota legislature.

That point is set up to show you that doctors—as well as Sister Kenny—have their troubles with appropriations. Of course, though, the doctors have more buildings than Sister Kenny.

SISTER KENNY had put her rap on the university, also famous for a football team known as "The Gophers," for running roughshod over her for taking on four spastic children as patients. And sundry other charges, such as that the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, while refusing big funds for her institute, gave $320,000 to the University of Minnesota to pursue research, presumably to explore her ideas to the cause of infantile paralysis.

Without stressing the point, Sister Kenny has been tossing off charges which involve everybody since it is the common man's dimes being spent and anybody's child who may become lottery victim of polio.

One good place to get answers was right here in the Think Works. Dr. Harold S. Diehl, dean of the university's medical school, is a pleasant, soft-spoken man.

WHAT ABOUT those four spastics Sister Kenny said the University of Minnesota made her turn out?

"Her accusation was the first we knew of it," Dr. Diehl said. "We have no authority to say who should and who should not be her patients. The institute is not under our control."

What about the point that under-trained people were going out, according to Sister Kenny, and bringing ill-repute on her methods?

"In 1942 we were faced with a bad situation," Dr. Diehl explained. "Where were you going to get people to stay as long as she wanted them? . . . They may not have been trained as skillfully as she, but if they hadn't gone out there would have been a scream throughout the country in view of all her publicity. Our men say two years are not necessary for the teaching period. It was a problem of getting a few people to stay on for the long course or a shorter, more intensive course, so the people could study her technique and go out and apply it."

HE POINTED OUT that it was Sister Kenny herself, who taught them and who signed the certificates of those permitted to go out and use her method.

On Sister Kenny's charge that the university wasn't investigating her theory of infantile paralysis, Dr. Diehl declared, "What she wants is an official endorsement from us. The medical school doesn't endorse anything, not even the work of our own faculty members."

But were they doing any research along Sister Kenny's ideas?

As Dr. Diehl expressed it, "We are carrying on an investigation into infantile paralysis involving various aspects of her work." He added that the university's $320,000 grant was spread over five years. Even a doctor gets to the end of his patients—no pun—for Dr. Diehl sighed and said, "Really, we are interested in finding out the truth about infantile paralysis."

ONE DOCTOR on the campus in an unguarded moment, tossed off the observation that "Sister Kenny's idea of scientific research is to have somebody run down to her institute every time she gets a new idea." Dr. Diehl is far more diplomatic.

"We are interested in her work," he said. "We believe it has merit. But she told us she thought she could do better if she wasn't associated with us any longer. . . . She didn't like the way we did things, but we have to follow our own best judgement in education."

He described it as "nonsense" that Sister Kenny had got only peanut money from the National Foundation. The poor man seems to have been busy keeping accounts. For instance, he made a lengthy report to the regents on the entire relationship between the medical school and Sister Kenny.

TUCKED at the end of that report for figures through 1943 was shown a total of $69,327 from the national fund, "of which $22,335 were expended from the living and traveling expenses of Sister Kenny and her Australian associates and $3,817 for salaries of certain members of the staff of the Kenny Institute and the Minneapolis General Hospital which participated in the teaching program."

His office was kind enough to

to work and bring those figures up to date for the end of 1944 so they would read that out of a total foundation grant of $105,639 for teaching the Kenny method "$33,930 were expended for the living and traveling expenses of Sister Kenny and her Australian associates and $15,584 for salaries of certain members of the staff of the Kenny Institute."

IT MUST be remembered that Sister Kenny said she stopped getting foundation money in June, 1943. But the statistical Dr. Diehl has figures for that, too. In a letter to the National Foundation he reported that Sister Kenny herself, between Aug. 7, 1940, and June 30, 1943, got a total of $19,350.

There is an odd fact that you might like to brood on. It seems that when the National Foundation got the request for $840,000 to expand the work at the Kenny Institute, Dr. Don Gudakunst, the foundation's medical director, telephoned to Mr. Diehl from New York. He asked him what he knew about the Minneapolis request. Dr. Diehl said he never heard of it. He added that most of the physicians on the institute's board also had not heard of the request.

DR. DIEHL added that a committee had come out and surveyed the Kenny Institute before the foundation turned down the request.

"Nobody with a sense of responsibility would give a grant for that place," Dr. Diehl said. It is rather small.

Sister Kenny's supporters are going around saying that they don't think it was ethical that the committee spent its first evening in Minneapolis with the medical boys and came over the next day to look over her institute. However, don't think there isn't another side to that too. The foundation has a right to be careful how it spends the dimes you gave it.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dubel, 210 de Paul street, have received word their two sons, Pvt. Charles Dubel and Pfc. Frank Dubel, met on the streets of London after having been separated for three years. Pvt. Charles Dubel has been in hospital service in England while Pfc. Frank Dubel was in active combat service in France, Holland, Belgium and Germany. He was seriously wounded in France during the invasion.

Mrs. Holmes Baker, chairman of the Frederick county bandage making for the Red Cross, has sent to Emmitsburg the quota of gauze and large folding boards for the surgical dressing group. Mrs. Harry Boyle, chairman of the Emmitsburg branch, announced today that the surgical dressing class will be held at the same place, the Lutheran parish hall, the same hours and the same day and evening as before the class closed—Wednesday, from 1:30 p. m. to 9:30. The first meeting will be Wednesday, May 23. Mrs. Harry Boyle expressed the hope that all the workers who attended the last meeting will be present again. The Emmitsburg branch aims to finish their present quota by the end of June.

The Home economics class of the Emmitsburg high school, under the direction of Miss Charlotte Robinson, attended the meeting of the Home economics club in Westminster Saturday.

ACE WANTS TO MEET JAPANESE

Paris, May 21 (AP)—Lt. Col. Francis S. Gabreski, of Oil City, Pa., U. S. Eighth Air Force ace who shot down 28 German planes before he was forced down behind the enemy lines, has arrived here after months in German prison camps and says he wants a chance at the Japanese in the Pacific war.

Gabreski now is headed for the United States. The 26-year-old flier was captured by the Germans last July when he made a crash landing near Coblenz.

"I was shooting at a plane on the ground," he said. "I stuck the nose down a little to get on the target and the propeller hit the ground."

After hiding for five days, he was caught and sent to a prison camp.

CALL FOR EARLY BIG 3 PARLEY ON NEW CRISES

(By The Associated Press)
London, May 21 (AP)—The British press clamored today for an early meeting of the Big Three to settle a multiplicity of vexing problems in shattered Europe as tension mounted in the dispute over the Adriatic port of Trieste.

"The time has come when Allied leaders must rally their peoples to a united front for peace as they did in war," declared the Daily Sketch, adding that "some of the issues are beginning to assume the nature of international crises" and "there are still darker clouds ahead."

The Trieste dispute, the Polish problem, punishment of Nazi war criminals and plans for Allied government of Germany, said the Daily Telegraph, "should be arranged on generally uniform principles between the Allies at once. Any differences which exist are far more superficial than fundamental, but differences which are allowed to drift on too often end by becoming disastrous."

A Belgrade dispatch said American and British diplomatic personnel and civilians in Yugoslavia were alerted by their embassies yesterday to prepare for the eventuality of immediate evacuation. But Associated Press Correspondent William B. King reported there was no sign of unfriendly feeling toward the Allies in the capital and an evacuation, according to the best opinion there, would take place only if the situation reached a point of open conflict.

Marsal Tito's commanders, meanwhile, moved their main headquarters out of Trieste following a sharp

CONFERENCE IN AGREEMENT ON ONE BIG ISSUE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(Associated Press Diplomatic News Editor)

San Francisco, May 21 (AP)—Agreement among the big-five and Latin American nations on plans for regional self defense systems within a world organization today put the United Nations conference safely past its biggest stumbling block.

Russian acceptance of the regional plan with only minor changes in wording was followed by signs that a smooth and early solution of Soviet-American differences over a system of international trusteeships is close at hand.

Furthermore, satisfaction of the Latin American republics that the regional defense system in this hemisphere will be preserved melted their opposition to decisive action on other major conference issues, mainly a veto-voting system for the big powers in the proposed world security council.

Much Maneuvering

As the fourth full week of the conference opened, many United Nations leaders were hopeful that the job of charting the new international league could be finished June 2. Proposals for speeding up the work to meet that deadline were ready for a steering committee session today.

American military authorities were understood to feel that the security arrangements already on or in the making offer full protection to the United States regardless of how the projected league works out. Much of the maneuvering to date has been due to the efforts of all the nations, but particularly the big powers, to set up as many safeguards as they can for their own future protection. Thus Russia early obtained agreement of the big five to allow defense treaties against future Axis aggression to remain unchanged under the world organization system.

United States Objectives

United States policy, on strictly security questions, is concerned with three main objectives:

1. To chart the world organization in such a way as to minimize war-breeding friction among the big powers and provide protections against aggression wherever it may occur in future.
2. To preserve the inter-American defense system as a means to western hemisphere security and unity against attack from within or without. United States officials say the regional defense plan now agreed on provides for this.
3. To prepare the way for development of American land, sea and air bases in Pacific islands wrested from Japan. The problem here arises in connection with international trusteeships. The United States has put forward a plan which would allow the security council to approve—but not prevent—the development of such bases.

Subject of Controversy

Russia proposed to alter this plan in such a way that the council itself would designate the bases to be developed. Under the veto voting formula this would mean that any one of the big powers could block a base project. The point has been a subject of controversy for more than a week.

Now, however, it is expected that Russia may not insist on its proposal and that the United States idea will prevail. On another trusteeship dispute—whether to promise colonial peoples "independence" or "self-government," possible compromise was seen:

The United States is backing "self-government"; the Russians "independence." The Chinese suggested that both terms be written into the world charter. Britain and the United States argued against that but may withdraw their arguments. Otherwise some new term may be agreed upon.

Use Airplanes To Fight Gypsy Moth

Harrisburg, May 21 (AP)—The war against the gypsy moth has been carried into the air with two airplanes being used to conduct a blitz on the insects.

The department of agriculture reported that the planes would patrol the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre district this week, spreading a fine mist of D.D.T. over the trees in an experimental test.

Last year the department, in co-operation with federal authorities, sprayed an isolated but heavily infested 20 acre tract of woodland in Lackawanna county and no gypsy moths have been seen in the area since that day.

This year the department plans to cover 3,000 acres in Lackawanna, Luzerne, Wayne and Carbon counties where the moths have been found in recent years.

Wooden Cross Is Mysteriously Burned

Trenton, N. J., May 21 (AP)—The charred remains of a six-foot wooden cross stood today on the site of a proposed Negro housing project in Hamilton township.

The cross, first noticed ablaze late Saturday night, was placed on the spot selected for the first of 250 buildings planned for the project and was less than 700 feet from St. Philip's Negro Baptist church. It was constructed of two-by-four inch wooden beams wrapped in kerosene-soaked burlap bags.

The proposed project is near the site of another project constructed for white occupancy.

James Kerney, publisher of the Trenton Times, said yesterday in a statement "we expect the local police in Hamilton township to prevent any kind of an outrage against the principles for which our fellow citizens are dying at Okinawa. x x x"

Harry Lieberman, Hamilton township committee member, said there would be a thorough investigation.

NEW FREIGHT RATES BENEFIT SOUTH AND WEST

By J. FRANK TRAGLE

Washington, May 21 (AP)—The nation's railroad freight bill is being refigured.

In a move widely significant to the south and west, the Interstate Commerce Commission:

1. Ordered basic freight rates of those sections—except for the far west—equalized with eastern rail charges.
2. Directed that the nation's carriers simplify rate-making by setting up a uniform system of freight classification for the entire nation.
3. The long-awaited order, universally conceded to be the most important in the commission's 58-year history, was released late Saturday without an advance hint. As a result its 294 pages caught railroad representatives completely by surprise. They withheld comment pending a thorough study.

Acclaimed In South

The decision, however, was quickly acclaimed by southern leaders.

Gov. Ellis Amalfi, of Georgia, declared: "America may well take notice—the south is on its way."

Amalfi added that the ICC ruling will not deter Georgia from pressing its Supreme court suit against a number of railroads on charges of conspiring against the south in establishing railroad freight rates.

The ruling covered these general categories:

1. A nationwide uniform classification of rates.
2. Directed that differences in "class" rates now existing throughout the country be reduced to a minimum, except for the Pacific coast which asked for no reduction.
3. For this revision the commission recommended that a class-rate scale approximately 15 per cent higher than present first-class rates in eastern territory be established as a base.
4. Because years may be required to make these changes, the commission directed that temporary relief be provided, effective August 30, by increasing all class rates within eastern territory by 10 per cent and lowering all other class rates except those west of the Rocky mountains by 10 per cent.

Eggplant Good Vegetable For A Meatless Dinner

Soldiers in the South Seas are probably eating lots of egg plant, because it is an oriental favorite, and used far more in that area than in this country.

It is an excellent vegetable to take the place of a meat course, however; and so is a good vegetable to grow in these days of strict rationing. It is also highly decorative; if you plan to enter a basket of

Do Well in Any Garden

Eggplant grows slowly, and should be started under protection. The plants require an even temperature and do not thrive in cold frames. A dozen plants will be sufficient for an average family, and they are usually obtainable in the markets.

The plants require rich soil, but will do well in any garden which has been well fertilized. As they are extremely tender and would be killed by light frost they should never be set in the garden until all danger of frost is over. Set them 18 inches to 2 feet apart in the row and keep them growing by frequent shallow cultivation.

When fruits begin to set, a side dressing of plant food will help them. Some varieties produce a few large fruits, others many small ones, and the latter may be preferable for a small family. The fruit is edible so long as the skin has a high gloss; when it begins to dull the fruit is too old for use.

Soil Conservation Program Planned

Harrisburg, May 21 (AP)—Clyde A. Zehner, a state chairman of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency said a long range program of soil conservation in Pennsylvania was in the making.

His committee and advisory board met today to obtain views from farmers throughout the commonwealth on how the program should be carried out.

Mark Shuman, administrative assistant of the AAA explained that questionnaires sent farm farmers to obtain their views on:

1. How much land should be kept in crop production and how much in pasture.
2. What amount of lime and superphosphate will be necessary to insure the fertility of the soil.
3. What should be done in the nature of strip cropping, planting of trees, or winter cover as soil conservation measures.

Small-Scale Irrigation
It is a common error, even among experienced farmers and gardeners to consider the evils of deficient soil moisture in terms of prolonged drought, when plants visibly suffer and crop yields are materially reduced. However, there are other and greater reasons for planning artificial irrigation. Seldom is a growing season experienced without vegetable crops suffering in vigor and their yields reduced and quality impaired by lack of adequate moisture at some stage of their growth. This may occur when the soil is too dry to promote rapid seed germination.

PERENNIALS DO BEST ON EARLY SEED SOWINGS
Gardeners who grow perennials from seed will have an easier time of it if they will sow in May instead of waiting until June or later. When summers are hot and dry it is often quite a task to get seeds to germinate in June, and seedling plants must be given extra attention at that time to keep from being scorched to death.

In April and May, however, we usually have cool, moist weather which hastens germination and is favorable to the young plants. Many of the perennials germinate best in cool weather. Delphiniums, for example, grow best in a temperature of 40 degrees.

When seeds are sown in April or early May the seedlings should be transplanted in July so that they have room to develop into sturdy plants. They will be large enough by fall to be planted in the border where they are to grow.

Seedbed Selection

There is no garden operation which saves money faster than growing one's own perennials. When plants are purchased they are relatively expensive because of the long growing period, the intensive care they have had and the large percentage of loss. Plants have never been grown successfully in large scale operations because of the limited area over which they can be distributed satisfactorily and the high cost of packing such fragile subjects for shipment. The gardener who grows his own pays only for annual vines, such as morning-glories, will cover up an ugly spot in your landscape in rapid-fire time. They climb up to 20 feet in a single summer.

or it may prove even more disastrous when a few days of dry weather curtails growth near the blossoming and fruiting stage. It is to bridge these brief but important gaps that a simple method of watering garden crops is warranted, even in seasons of normal or heavier than normal rainfall.

Plants demand moisture to render plant foods soluble in the rooting soil. For example, if commercial fertilizer is applied in extremely dry soils, plant roots are wholly unable to take up the nourishment until sufficient moisture is applied, either in the form of rain or by irrigation, to dissolve the small granules of fertilizer. The same is true of most natural forms of plant foods.

Of course, small gardeners find their most difficult problem in devising a suitable and a practicable method of irrigation. They cannot afford elaborate overhead systems, such as many commercial growers find profitable. Too, they may lack sources of water as well as ways to distribute it. But rarely is there a case where some remedial method of irrigation is impossible.

Dangers Of Sprinkling

If city water is available, one of the better ways to utilize it is to allow water to run down shallow furrows and soak into the ground. Sprinkling is often more injurious than beneficial for two reasons—(1) An insufficient amount of moisture is usually applied; (2) Certain plant diseases are spread by superficial sprinkling.

Several years ago the porous hose method was widely recommended. This consisted of using fabric hose, such as fire departments use, and puncturing the hose at frequent intervals to permit water to seep out the seed. The task of caring for the plants and observing their growth is a fascinating recreation, if he is a true garden fan.

Among the perennials with which beginners will have little difficulty are columbines, dianthus, delphiniums, gaillardias, coreopsis, hollyhocks, pyrethrums, sweet williams, veronica spicata and violas.

Take a secluded and protected spot in the vegetable garden for a seedbed. Be as careful about preparing the soil as if it were to be put in a flat. Plant perennials in rows like vegetables, labeling each row. Thin or transplant to the proper distances apart in the row.

where they are laid along the rows. But of course, such equipment is difficult to obtain now. But the principle was sound and the idea is worth remembering.

Perhaps the most desirable means of watering a small garden is to obtain kegs, old milk cans (10 gallon size), barrels and similar containers and place them beside rows and hills of plants needing moisture. Make small holes in the bottoms to permit the water to seep out gradually. Fill them in the evening and thereby enjoy the equivalent of an all-night rain. Rotate them to new locations the next evening.

Gardeners who are so fortunate as to own a suitable type of engine and pump and have a liberal source of water within piping range of the garden may install equipment to bring ample moisture to the entire area by using second-hand pipe and hose.

Droughts are likely to come every summer. And, as mentioned above, there are periods when crops suffer from lack of moisture even when the rainfall is normal. Therefore, some simple system of irrigation will usually pay for its installation in one season where gardens are grown for home use as well as for marketing.

Lettuce seed germinates best in a soil temperature of 60 to 65 degrees. If necessary to sow when temperatures are higher, place the seed between moist cloths and store for several days on ice. Dry the surface of the seed before sowing.

Lower Age Limit For Army Release

Washington, May 21 (AP) — The Army today fixed at 40 years the age at which enlisted men may apply for discharge.

The Army only last month had lowered the discharge age to 42 year. An estimated 30,000 enlisted men in the Army are in the 40 and 41 year age groups.

At the same time, the War department announced that Wacs 40 years of age or over who have served the required period on active duty will be eligible for discharge. It estimated that 8,000 enlisted Wacs will be eligible under this provision.

The new order provided that in the case of men 40 or 41 years of age, commanders will be permitted to retain for not more than 90 days any man for whom a replacement is not available at the time he requests discharge.

The War department said that "when the military situation permits" a further reduction in the age limit will be made.

Chapter 4
Kay didn't sleep much that night and the next morning she was awake early. She heard a familiar knock and Liza's black face appeared. Liza was not smiling this morning. Her old eyes sought Kay's face with a worried expression.

Liza, Jimmy had once put it, was a big black cornerstone of the Lambert house. She had nursed the baby Francis and, years later, Francis' daughter.

Her small bungalow stood in the woods back of the big house. Her daughter, Anna was cook for the Lamberts. And Anna, was, Liza claimed often and bitterly, a great disappointment to her. "After I done sent you to Tuskegee to get book-learnin', you done come home and marry that no-count Sam," she'd berate Anna almost daily.

Sam was gardener and chauffeur for the Lamberts, but his main idea in life was to keep in good standing with his mother-in-law. "Good morning, Miss Kay," she said, and her anxiety was replaced with a wide grin. "Dr. Sims done phoned there's a new baby down at the hospital."

"Hospital," Kay corrected mechanically. "Yassum," Liza agreed, unperturbed. "You'll be wantin' a silver cup for him, I reckon?"

"Yes, sometime. But not today." Katherine had started the procession of silver cups. One for every baby born in the village since her marriage to Francis. Kay had gone with her often as a child to deliver her gifts. Now Kay went alone bearing the cup, and often clothes, and books and toys.

"I'm so unhappy," she told Liza. "Yassum," Liza agreed anxiously. "I knowed that you knowed 'bout Mr. Francis soon as I looked at you. I ain't woke you up every morning for twenty-four years without knowing when you know bad news!"

"You're a mind-reader, Liza." "No'm, I sticks to readin' my cup. That's how I knowed 'bout Mr. Francis marryin' last night."

"Yes," Kay exclaimed bitterly. "Everyone knew except me. Why didn't you tell me?"

"Well," Liza evaded, "there ain't nothin' to do with a man when he's set on marryin', 'cept to let him marry. He'll get well." She paused, then added, "And I figured you had time enough to worry when that woman gets here."

Kay lay quite still for a long time. Then she rose wearily, took her bath, and slipped on a simple blue tennis frock and tied a matching blue ribbon about her bright hair.

She moved slowly down the winding stairway, her eyes on the wide rooms with their lofty ceilings. She had a feeling that she was saying a farewell to a familiar pattern of her life when she surveyed the living room.

Francis Lambert's automobile was proceeding at a leisurely rate of speed through the mountains of north Georgia. Francis was driving and he glanced often at his beautiful bride. He was tall, and his dark hair was scarcely touched with gray.

Scranton Transit System Is Stalled

Scranton, May 21 (AP) — All street-cars and buses of the Scranton Transit company remained at a standstill today as the work stoppage of 400 company employees entered its second day. There were no street-cars or buses operating today and hundreds of persons employed in mines, industrial plants and offices were either late for work or did not get there at all.

A deadlock over a demand for higher wages and changes in working conditions precipitated the stoppage yesterday without warning to the general public.

The strikers are to hold a meeting today, but Business Agent John F. Holleran said it was merely a routine session to maintain contacts among the workers during the strike. Neither the union nor the company issued a statement.

The Dominican Republic is ruled by Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina, who once served in the U. S. Marines.

72,000 HARD COAL MINERS RESUME WORK

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 21 (AP)—Most of Pennsylvania's 72,000 hard coal miners, on the basis of early reports, returned to work today.

All anthracite mines in district seven, United Mine Workers, around Hazleton, resumed work and all mines checked in district one, around Wilkes-Barre were reported in operation. District one employs 38,000 miners, district seven 15,000.

Daily production of the anthracite mines is approximately 190,000 tons, shut off since May 1 when the miners' union contract expired.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine workers, ordered the workers to return, officers of local unions being notified by telegram.

Reach Agreement

Operators and UMW representatives reached a contract agreement late Saturday to raise the miners' pay $1.37 a day. Federal agencies will review the contract in the light of the wage stabilization policy, and the Office of Price Administration will decide on awarding price increases on coal to cover added costs.

Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the UMW, said details of the new contract probably will not be announced until it goes before the board.

Telegrams to officers of local unions explained that the wage boost was distributed among "travel time, increased vacation payments, premium rates on the second and third shifts, punitive overtime after seven hours a day and 35 hours a week with proper and adequate coverage for every employee in the industry."

The mines have been under government seizure since May 3 but the miners would need no orders to return to work until a contract agreement was reached. Production was cut by an estimated 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 tons of coal.

In the Pottsville, Pa., area, many independent coal miners returned to work yesterday, 24 hours ahead of the schedule set by the union.

Truckers who supply coal to Philadelphia consumers direct from the mines also returned to work and were scheduled to be on the road by the time general mining operations started today.

FIGHT LOOMS OVER OPA RULE

Washington, May 21 (AP)—A bitter congressional struggle is shaping up over the future of price control.

For the last three months OPA has been a storm center of controversy over meat prices and distribution. But while this held public attention, a deeper, more fundamental issue has been developing.

Soon to reach the Senate floor, this, in essence, is the question of when and how price controls are to be relaxed. The end of the European war has pushed it to the forefront.

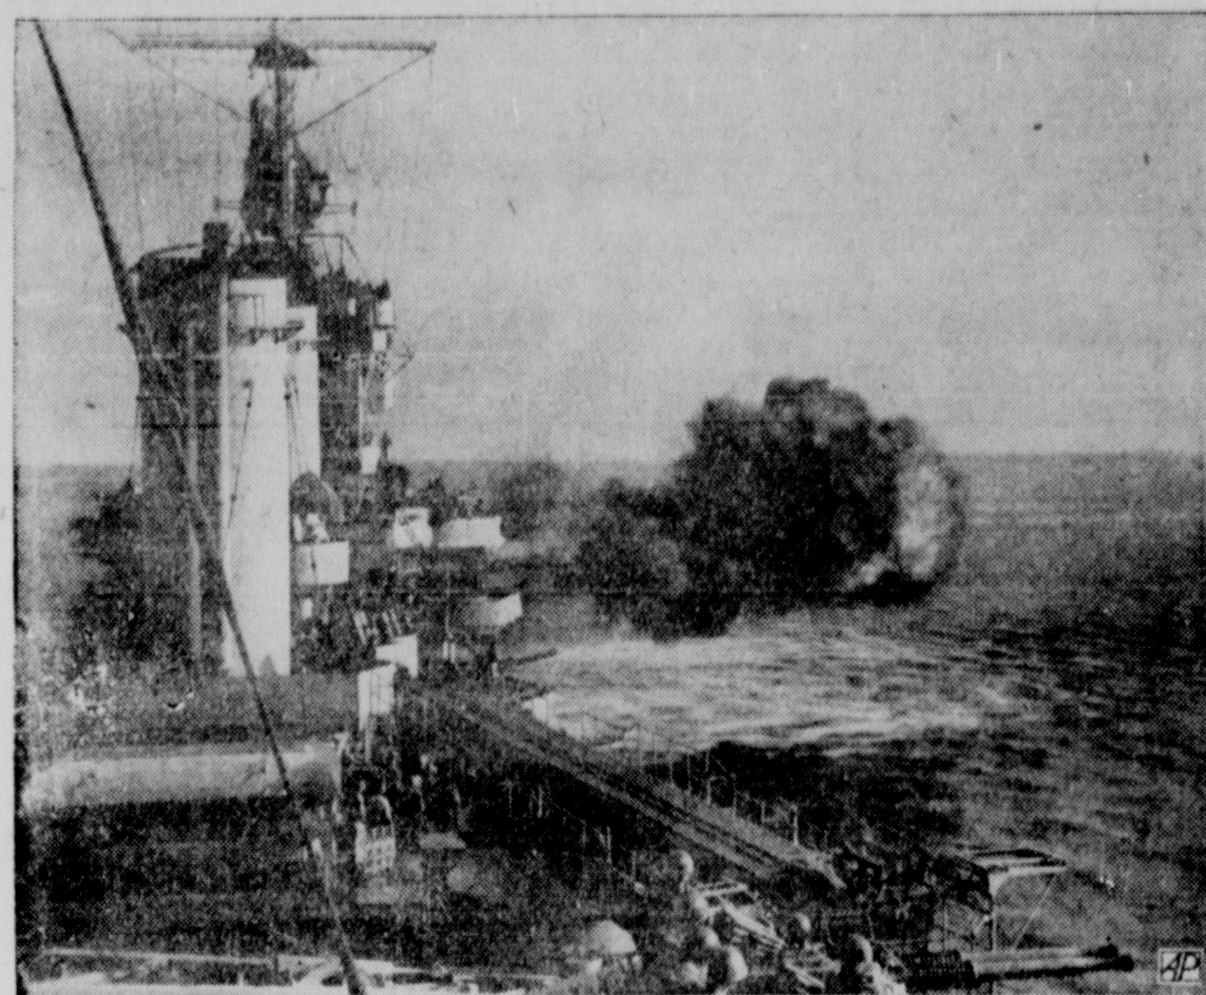

On one hand is a school of thought, led by Senator Taft (R-Ohio), which holds that a start must be made soon on easing price restrictions, else the nation's economy will be strangled.

Taft contends that the groundwork for a major depression will be laid if price margins are held narrow and regulations kept tight in the reconversion period. He says it will deter the creation of new businesses and the expansion of existing ones with consequent unemployment as war plants are shut down.

On the other side—the administration viewpoint—is the argument that inflation dangers still are great and any easing of controls would be dangerous.

An estimated 100,000,000 tons of freight were carried over the Rhine in peacetime years.

Nazis' Punishment Must Be 'Economic'

Pittsburgh, May 21 (AP)—Punitive measures against the German people may have to be largely economic "because we can't put them all in jail, but Senate Majority Leader

Alben Barkley (D-Ky) declared the entire German nation must be made to pay "for what it has inflicted on mankind."

Sen. Barkley, who addressed the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee here yesterday, told a press conference that the Germans must rebuild what they have destroyed, adding:

"They must not be allowed to reconstruct war plants or have an Army or Navy."

The veteran Democratic senator called for immediate punishment of war criminals "without dragging it out on too many legalistic technicalities."

LOVE

Seattle, (AP) — Seaman Rudolf Sengbosh, Newark, N. J., on leave here, and his fiancée from Newark, Mary Alexander discussed their marriage plans as they blissfully taxied away from the railroad station.

Sometime later Miss Alexander discovered she had left her purse containing $500 in cash and $15,000 in jewels in the cab.

The cab company was notified and they began questioning their drivers. The 52nd one queried found the purse and valuables on his back seat, ignored by several other fares.

TATTLE TALE

Springfield, Ill., (AP) — Stray chickens were eating seeds as fast as he could plant them in his victory garden, H. Clay Gott of the Attorney General's office reported.

So he attached a thin string to a hole bored in corn kernels, and to the other end tied a card reading: "I have been a bad bird. Please keep me home before I get killed."

The corn, string, and cards are gone. Gott is waiting.

COMMANDER OF HOLDOUT NAZIS NOW A PRISONER

(By The Associated Press)

Paris, May 21—Field Marshal Ferdinand Schoerner, commander of hold-out Nazi troops who resisted the Red Army in Czechoslovakia many days after Germany's unconditional surrender, was an American captive today—turned over to the 42nd Division by troops of a German army command post.

Schoerner, who deserted his troops in the field and flew out of Czechoslovakia May 8, was disguised in a Tyrolean native costume when he sought refuge with the German First Army group, only to be surrendered promptly to the Americans.

The manhunt for Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler continued. An armored automobile identified as having belonged to him was found near Neunkirchen, close to the area where Arthur Greiser, former Nazi overlord of Posen, was caught on May 17.

Freeze Nazi Assets

Moscow commentators last night demanded to know why some Nazi war criminals had not been captured by British-American authorities.

The American military government froze financial assets of Nazi leaders yesterday, limiting them to $30 a month for living expenses. Those affected, all of them liable to arrest, included all general staff officers, Reichstag deputies, SS members, officers and non-commissioned officers of the Waffen SS and SA, police above the rank of lieutenant colonel, security police, Gestapo members and all above the rank of captain in the administration of occupied territories.

The loot of the Nazi inner circle still is being tracked down. Supreme headquarters has sent special agents throughout Germany to seek art treasures valued at $500,000,000 stolen by a vast Nazi organization created for the purpose of plundering on an almost incredible scale.

WAR has meant that industry must work with harder, tougher metals . . . within smaller limits . . . and do it a whole lot faster than ever before.

This challenge has been met by the machine builders with lathes, drills, planers, other machines of a speed and ruggedness hardly dreamed before.

In doing so, they set up a problem for the makers of cutting oils . . . one measured by the very degree of perfection achieved in machine design. It's the cutting oils that keep one metal from fusing with another in high-speed work.

That's why the petroleum cutting oils developed by Atlantic research are vital in war work. Keeping up with the development of the great new machines, they're a short cut to fast metal-cutting.

This is one more example of the varied research that goes on continuously at Atlantic. Helping win the war now, it means better petroleum products of all kinds in peacetime tomorrow.
